Friday morning

Hi —

Spoke to Mr. Conard Coker, program chairman of Beth-El Suburban, last night. He is not the man who wrote the letter to Harold, but he will relay the message to the ~~people~~ person who was in charge of arranging that particular program. He was quite enthusiastic, having heard the program the previous night. He had heard Harold each time he was on WCAU — he is a regular listener to Jack McKinney. I told him you & Harold would ~~be~~ write to him as soon as you were able (as per request by Harold). He assumes that since Harold will be traveling during the next few weeks, he will be unavailable for January & he will be telling the person ~~to~~ who wrote to Harold to arrange something else for their January meeting. However, apparently they would still like to have Harold about February.

If Harold is still here, he may be interested in knowing that Jonathan told me he apologized to Joyce for having refused her gift the previous night. He received her gift ~~(also~~ a scaled down model of a 1928 Mercedes with delight and his face sadly fell when he received a flannel shirt from us — he ever thanked us for it. He wanted to wear it this morning and was very happy to see that the plaid (colors) were such that it could be worn with all his school pants. He plans to go shopping tomorrow for the girls' gifts.

Things are much the same for us. I must set
